NUTRITION AND REGENERATIVE TREATMENT FOR PERIPHERAL NEUROPATHY

In this document we are going to be discussing the multi-pronged approach to Peripheral Neuropathy. We will be looking at this from the angle of using good nutrition and detoxing as a way to improve the results for your patients receiving regenerative medicine treatments. We will also be looking at it from the perspective of having other services in your office for patients who are not doing regenerative medicine.

The idea is to further augment your cash services and be able to maximize your medical providers time in your practice while providing services that your patients will want and need.

Even though America is the land of plenty, many American's bodies are literally starving for proper nutrients. Also, in many cases the food that they are eating is poisoning them. It is hard for our bodies to be balanced if the food we are eating does not contain the nutrients we need.

SEVENTY PERCENT OF THE AMERICAN DIET IS FROM PROCESSED FOOD.

Processed foods contain little to no nutrition value. They are, also, in many cases full of an enormous amount of chemicals. Processed foods, nicknamed "junk food", such as donuts, pastries, potato chips, french fries, soda, and many more are all a source of empty calories. For our bodies to function properly and to be able to heal when there's a problem, we must properly fuel our bodies with the nutrients needed.

CHEMICALS, POLLUTANTS AND TOXINS

Another fact you may not know is that there are 82,000 chemicals, pollutants, and toxins that we come into contact with on a weekly basis in the U.S.A. They are in the air that we breathe, the food we eat, the water we drink, and even the things we use to wash ourselves and our clothes.

It is virtually impossible for our liver to process all of these things we are exposed to. Because of this our bodies store these chemicals in fat to protect us from their damage. In other words, our bodies create more fat or enlarges our fat cells as more chemicals enter our bodies. This is one of the reasons Americans are so overweight. We have toxic bodies. This causes INFLAMMATION in our bodies that leads to DEGENERATION.

If you are dealing with a patient that has chronic induced inflammation from the foods they are eating and the chemicals and toxins they are exposed to, then they are not that healthy. When they are not healthy, their body will not respond as well to the regenerative treatments.

We all have learned that one of the things that happen as we age is that our regenerative properties slow down, produce less, and that we do not have as many as we used to. As this happens it makes it harder and harder for our bodies to keep up. When our bodies get behind, the aging process speeds up. Also, whatever injuries we have are unable to be fixed because of a lack of resources.

INFLAMMATION DEGENERATION

When a patient is in pain and can't get better, they search for options to try and solve their problem. They find a doctor who is doing regenerative medicine and decide to get the treatment to fix their area of pain or dysfunction. They are paying for this out of pocket with the hope of improvement. One of the problems impeding them for the results they want could be that their body is just too unhealthy. To fix them we need to handle the chronic inflammation in the body AND the area that is not functioning properly.

DETOXIFYING THE LIVER

Another thing we learned about our regenerative properties is that they will go to areas of inflammation. If the patient's body is inflamed by the foods they are ingesting, then what we are injecting them with will try to handle the injured body part. It also tries to fix the areas affected by the induced inflammation because of poor diet and nutrition.

Since we are dealing with a deficit of regenerative properties in most cases it will be important to set up a treatment protocol that has the best chance for success. That will be by getting the host body as healthy as possible. That way the product we introduce to the patient as well as the patient's resident regenerative properties can focus on fixing the injured area and not trying to handle an induced inflammation caused by poor diet and nutrition.

The idea here is to get the bad stuff out of the patient's body by detoxifying the liver. When we clean out the liver, it can then process and remove safely the stored chemicals and toxins. When they are removed, the patient will feel better, have more energy and in many cases lose weight.

ORGANIC FOOD

We will then put them on an anti-inflammatory diet consisting of organic whole foods. This will stop the induced inflammation and give them proper nutrients. They will start feeling better and have more energy. They will start to become healthier.

DIFFERENTIATION AND POSITIONING

Since our purpose is to help as many people as possible get better, then it is important to make sure we set up protocols that can give them the best chance to get the results they were hoping for.

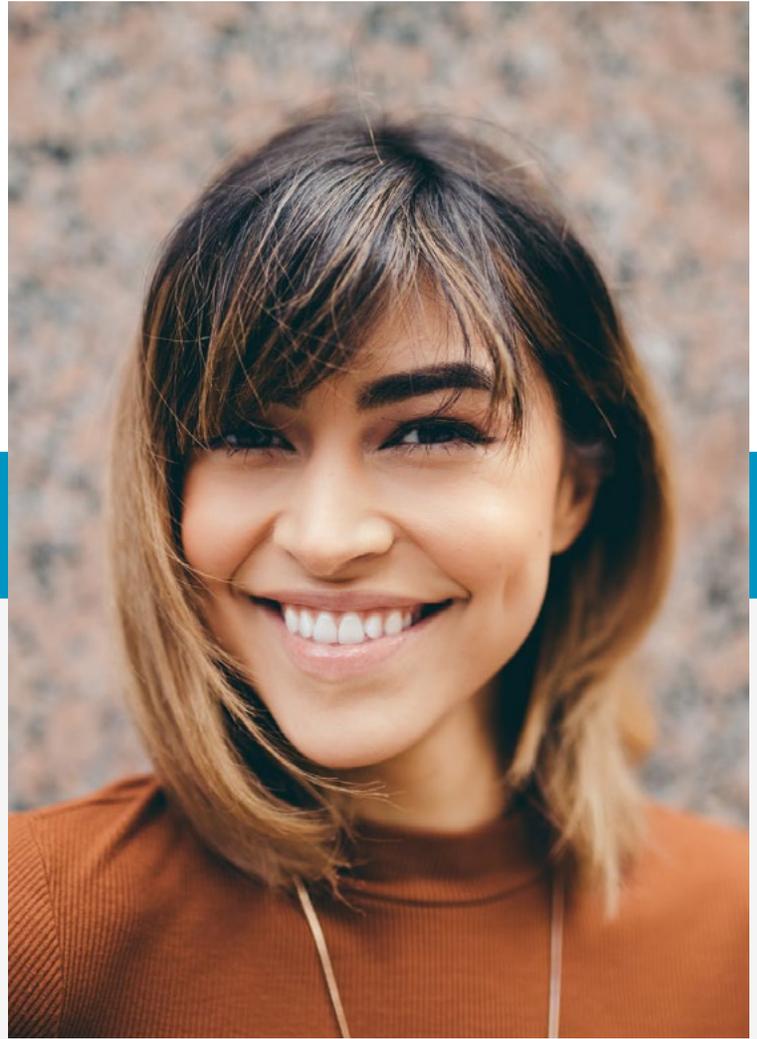

LET'S NOW EXPLORE THIS FROM A BUSINESS PERSPECTIVE

Of course patients' results are the most important reason to do a care plan with diet, detox, and regenerative medicine. It is also important to be able to position yourself in your community as the leading center that gets the best results. To do this you must set yourself apart from your competition. Most of your competition is just doing the regenerative treatment. Most of them are not even using the benefits of PRP let alone nutrition.

If you are able to put a package together and demonstrate to the patients how your treatment protocols are different and why, most of the time they will pick you over your competition and even their own doctors. This will become your unique selling point or USP.

It will also be a way to increase your case fees. More care equals more income and profit. With more income you can safely invest more money into your marketing department thus driving you more leads and patients.

You will be able to outperform your competition with better patient results and a better marketing budget.

This will really put you in position to reach the goals you had when you decided to add regenerative treatments into your office. Good results for your patients, and a business model that is stable and profitable.

For the anti-inflammation diet and detox, we recommend using the Vitamin Med kit. It works great and it is easy to implement. For the Regenerative medicine treatments we have a simple yet effective protocol that gets great results.

PERIPHERAL NEUROPATHY PACKAGE
